Your Chamber is Not Just One Thing

To say that the Kanabec Area Chamber of Commerce has a lot going on would be an understatement. It seems as a Board Member one event, initiative, or effort has not even happened and we are on to planning the next. Lots going on indeed!!!! If you think of the KACC as just one thing you are bound to be wrong or at the very best missing a great deal. It has been my experience as first a member of the Chamber and then as a Board Member that the organization functions with a very healthy tug of war between what it is, what has been, what it could be and what it should be. Let's be clear the KACC is, as it should be, about business and the initiatives such as GROW MN which the Chamber is involved in and are a testament to the Chamber's commitment to the growth and development of area businesses. It is also true however that we are all neighbors here and a healthy business community is dependent on a healthy community as a whole. Thus the KACC involves itself in community activities such as the Kanabec Sportsmen's Fair which draw people to the community, can feature local businesses to a broader community, and is intended to raise funds to keep member business membership fees very low. Another tug of war faced by the KACC is between the old and the new, the traditional and the ever changing. The Chamber Board's newest members Rolf Forslund representing the Vasaloppet and Dean Randt representing Coborn's Superstore are fine examples of what the Chamber is and will be. Rolf must maintain the traditional core of the Vasaloppet event while building an event that is attractive to the modern participant and Dean has been able to maintain that small town grocer feel while staying competitive in a difficult environment. It will be fun to welcome these two individuals who are tied to tradition and pushed to the modern.

So if you think you knew what the Chamber is, you may be mistaking it for what it was and if you think it is not for you and your business you are missing a great opportunity to grow your business and invest in the community. Join today; you won't be sorry.
